

See That Your Hunting Lamp Is A Justrite Hunter's Headlight

ACETYLENE—Carbide and Water

Next to gun and grub, your woods going at night and comfort in camp will hang most heavily upon a camp and trail light that won't blow out, break if dropped, spill if tipped over—that ordinary misuse will not put out of service.

Description

Generator weighs 1 1/2 lbs., concaved to fit snug to body, carried on belt at back or side or in the pocket, leaving both hands free for gun, rod or paddle. Head lamp, weight 5 ounces, equipped with glass lens, projects a strong white light 200 feet. No. 49 Special Lens fitting inside of regular lens (50 cents extra) concentrates and projects light 250 to 300 feet. Self-lighting attachment—no matches required. Gas regulated by a valve, can be shut off and relit as desired.

Cleanliness—Cost

Acetylene is a pure white flame and burns without smoke—no grease or smell to spoil the camp things or grub. Costs about one cent per hour—less than smelly and greasy oil or candles.

Fuel (Carbide and Water)

Carbide comes in solid lumps like gray pebbles—perfectly harmless and can be packed in camping outfit, trunk or grip—sold by dealers everywhere. Figure an ounce of carbide per hour's light.
